IOSH Managing Safely

All managers and supervisors play a vitally important role in ensuring that safety considerations are assessed and appropriate action is taken to control occupational risks in the workplace. The law demands that all undertakings must be properly and effectively managed in respect of the Health and Safety aspects arising throughout an organisation.

Managing safely is about people, property, systems and equipment. This course will examine the reasons why over 500 people are killed and around 30,000 are seriously injured at work each year. It will also show that the Health and Safety Executive place responsibility on management for allowing 75% of deaths and injuries to occur.

Managing Safely is a course for managers and supervisors in any sector and any organisation. It's designed to give managers all they need to know to help them handle health and safety in their teams. The flexible new high impact programme covers all the main health and safety issues, and includes a session tackling the environment too. The course lasts for 24 hours in total. Managing Safely can be delivered over 4 days in a full week or one day per week over four weeks and has eight modules: We can either deliver at your premises or one of our training venues.

- Introducing Managing Safely
- Assessing risks
- Controlling risks
- Understanding your responsibilities
- Identifying hazards
- Investigating accidents and incidents
- Measuring performance
- Protecting our environment

Certification

Delegates who successfully complete the written and practical assessments at the end of the course are awarded an IOSH certificate in Managing Safely.
